[No. 5282.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended.

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual constiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

THE SPECTATOR. BY JAMES HARRISON.

"Miserable man that I am!" sighed Jotham, as he sat at the door, at the going down of the sun—miserable man that I am!

"What ails thee, friend?" said a person who stood near him, although before unperceived. "Hast thou not health? Hast thou not friends? Hast thou not plenty? Thou hast sheep feeding on the hills, thy numerous herds graze in the valley, and thy grain fields teem with abundance."

"True," answered Jotham, "but the slowness and uncertainty of human life, are to me sources of constant wretchedness. I know not what hour I may be called to leave all these blessings. A few live to the good old age of four score years, but how few!"

"They, to be sure, are blessed, but I have no assurance that I shall live again to see my orchards in blossom, and to hear the bleating of my early lambs. I am miserable."

"And dost thou think it would contribute to thy happiness, to have removed the uncertainty of thy exit from this life, and to receive the assurance, that thou shouldst live to the age of four score and ten years?"

"Undoubtedly," said Jotham; "I could then proceed on my course with a light heart. I could plan my business for future years. I could plant my orchards with the certainty of enjoying the fruit—I could—"

"Enough," said his guest, interrupting him. "Thy desire shall be gratified. I am the spirit that presides over thy years, and am commissioned to fix the date of thy existence."

"Thou shalt have until the 5th of the 5th month in the year that thou shalt have numbered four score and ten, and in that day, at the going down of the sun, thou shalt die."

Jotham raised his eyes, and the person had disappeared, but he felt the full consciousness of the truth of what he had declared, and resolved to be happy. A thousand plans for amassing wealth—improving his grounds—planting orchards and forest trees—building houses and mills, for a while crowded upon his imagination; but ever and anon, the 5th of the 5th month of the year that he should be 90 occurred with renewed uneasiness to his mind. It was too far off to be worth thinking of, and yet would it return uncalled for with the most alarming suddenness. Jotham was then 37, and he took a slate and pencil to calculate. He had 55 years to live. He reduced the time to months—40 weeks—to days—hours and even to minutes. The day was fixed in his mind as certainly as in the records of fate. He looked at his watch. Three hours had already elapsed—when his family notified him that it was later than usual for him to retire. The sleep of Jotham was disturbed, and the first thought of the morning was the 5th of the 5th month, at the setting of the sun, in the year 1876. But he resolved to put in execution the plans he had formed. Some difficulties intervened, but as he had time enough, he postponed from day to day the commencement of his improvements.

A thousand new troubles now crowded on his mind. He was certain of life but not of health. His days might drag on heavily in pain and disease. He was not sure that his plans for amassing money would succeed. He might become a pauper. Instead of stimulating his exertions, he found that the certainty of long life relaxed them. In the midst of business and pleasure, the day certainly fixed for his death, would come like a dark cloud overshadowing his soul, paralyzing his exertions, and damping his joys. He felt it like the iron belt of the Scottish James, who fell at Floddenfield; and from the very circumstance he expected to prove the source of happiness, he derived nothing but uneasiness, and finally the most unceasing misery.

A year had passed away, when at the same hour of the same month, Jotham sat at his porch, his beard long, his face pale, and his whole body emaciated. "Miserable man that I am!" exclaimed he. "The day of my death is fixed. The time is ascertained with awful certainty. I am like a criminal under condemnation, and I feel that the distance of time is only an aggravation by procrastinating my misery. Would to God that my guardian angel would return and restore me to the state of other men."

"Thy wish shall be granted," answered the same person whom he had seen the year before. "But my friend," added he, "let this learn thee to repress thy passions—limit thy desires—exercise that thou mayest enjoy rest;—be temperate that thou mayest possess health—cherish a cheerful reliance upon heaven, and obey the dictates of an enlightened conscience, and thou wilt enjoy a happiness which neither the certainty of great possessions, nor long life could ever bestow."

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 13.

BY CAPT. OF CHINESE MARINES.

It would seem as if last Eryon had, in parting with his favorite "Child" for ever, given out the whole vein to the feelings which have so long carried him away, and to have emptied himself of a greater share of melancholy than in any of his former productions. There is no concealment attempted. He throws aside almost all disguise, and discloses to almost all eyes, in the very act of praying upon his vials.

"Oh! that the desert were my dwelling place, With one fair spirit for my minister,
That I might all forget the human race, And, hating no one, love but only her!"

"True," answered Jotham, "but the slowness and uncertainty of human life, are to me sources of constant wretchedness. I know not what hour I may be called to leave all these blessings. A few live to the good old age of four score years, but how few!"

"And dost thou think it would contribute to thy happiness, to have removed the uncertainty of thy exit from this life, and to receive the assurance, that thou shouldst live to the age of four score and ten years?"

the "Miserable Man," who though but a soldier's son, made, in the fourteenth century, a noble attempt to restore liberty to that country, and to re-elevate its people to a sense of that generous ambition that distinguished their ancestors—that again conducts him to Rome, upon whose ruins with the goddess Egeria he expatiates with a most delightful and impassioned poetic spirit.

"Egeria! sweet creation of some heart, Which found no mortal resting place so fair As thine ideal breast; while for thou art Or wert,—a young Aurora of the air, The symphony of some fond dream;
Or it might be, a beauty of the earth,
Who found a more than common votary there."

Too much adorning; what's'er thy birth, Thou wert a beautiful thought, and softly Bodied forth.

"The mowers of thy fountain still are sprinkled With thine Elysian water-drops; the face Of thy cave-guarded spring, with years Unwithered.
Reflects the meek-eyed gaze of the place, Where green, wild mazes, new no more erase Art's works; nor must the delicate waters sleep Prisoned in marble, bubbling from the base Of the cliff statue, with a gentle leap The rill runs o'er, and round, fern, flowers And ivy creep."

"Here didst thou dwell, in this enchanted Cover,
Egeria! thy all-heavenly bosom beating
For the far foot-steps of thy mortal lover; The purple midnight veil'd that mystic meeting
With her most starry canopy, and sealing Thyself by thine adorer, what belief?
This cave was surely shaped out for the greeting
Of an enamored goddess, and the cell Haunted by only love—the earliest oracle."

"And didst thou not, thy breast to his relying Blend a celestial with a human heart; And love, which dies as it was born, in sighing, Stare with immortal transports?—Could thine art
Make them indeed immortal, and impart
The purity of heaven to earthly joys, Expel the venom and not blunt the heart—
The full satiety which all destroys And roots from out the soul the deadly weed which cloy's."

"Alas! our young affections run to waste, Or water but the desert; whence arise But weeds of dark luxuriance, lanes of hate, Rank at the core, though tempting to the eyes.
Flowers whose wild odours breathe but agues, And trees whose gums are poison; such the plants Which spring beneath her steps as passion flies
O'er the world's wilderness, and vainly pursue
For some celestial fruit forbidden to our wants."

"Oh Love! no habitation of earth thou art—As queen seraph, we believe in thee;
A faith whose martyrs are the broken heart, But never yet hath seen, nor e'er shall see The naked eye, thy form, as it should be;
The mind hath made thee as it peopled Heaven
Even with its own devious fantasy,
And to a thought such shape and image giv'n As haunts the unquench'd soul, parcel'd, wearied, wing and riven."

to Col. August, the agent on the part of this commonwealth, that he was happy to have it in his power to inform him that Eastport was again within the jurisdiction and limits of the state of Massachusetts.— Words cannot express the joy and satisfaction of the inhabitants of Eastport, at once more being restored to the great American family.

Gen. Miller was accompanied by Lieut.
Allanson, his aid, and by Dr. Benjamin Waterhouse. The succeeding day, a public dinner was given to Gen. Miller, by the inhabitants of Eastport in testimony of their high satisfaction at the restoration of of the island, and as a tribute of their respect to this gallant and meritorious officer."

SEVERAL RECENTS.—
We have conversed with a gentleman recently from the north, who informs us that about the 20th of last month, a party of about eleven men, resident on St. Mary's Island, ascended up as far as the Saint Tinel river, near the Tennessee pens, in pursuit of a gang of Indian desperadoes, who have been annoying and committing serious depredations on several families in that neighborhood. These savages who were very numerous were overtaken by them at the above place about sun down, and a general and destructive battle ensued. Only five of the Indians were found dead, but it is supposed that many have been killed and wounded. Eight out of the eleven that pursued, and attacked them fell victims on the spot. The following are the names of the unfortunate sufferers—Henry Swarunge, Ezekiel Hull, George Vanzant, Garrit Vanzant, Lewis Rawdall, Daniel Bullock, William Cooley and Henry Troutman.

Beston, July 11.
GALLANT EXPLOIT.
Captain James Turner, of Bucksport, Maine, in the schooner Eight Sisters, having 100 quintals of codfish on board, was taken by the British sloop of war Wye, Captain J. Harper, while fishing off Bryer Island, N.
S. 15th ult. The crew were put on board the Wye, but the captain was left on board the schooner, which was carried into Digby. After lying there twelve days, one Thomas Sadler, prize master, and three British seamen were ordered on board, and proceeded with the sch. towards Halifax.

On the night of the 28th June, Captain Turner carefully secured the fire arms and cutlasses to his own use, while the prize master and another man were asleep—fastened them below, without being discovered, and then took a pistol in each hand, and gave his orders to the two on deck, who day following, and landed the prize master and one man, and again set sail, and arrived at Bucksport on the 3d July, in triumph.

I certify the above to be true.
JAMES TURNER.
Bucksport, July 4, 1872.

From the National Intelligencer.
The latest accounts we have from Pensacola, are by way of Mobile, under date of the 15th ultimo. We are sorry to find it stated, in the Mobile Gazette, as a report entitled to some degree of credit, that there are many complaints on the part of the Spanish garrison and subjects in Pensacola, that the articles of capitulation have not been strictly observed on the part of the Americans.

This complaint may have arisen from general feeling on the part of the Spanish inhabitants, without any particular foundation in fact; or from the difficulty which may occur from our officers not accurately discriminating between a positive conquest of the soil and sovereignty, and a temporary occupation of it, supposed to be made necessary to the safety of our country, by the impotency or inability of the Spanish authorities to cause good faith to the United States to be observed there.

The same paper informs us, that Pensacola, if the information of the Editor of the Gazette be correct, presents an extraordinary political aspect; that Spanish law prevails as to every thing except the Custom House and Revenue Laws, and as to those the laws of the United States are in force; and that both Spanish and American property had been seized in the port of Pensacola and sent to the United States for adjudication. It is easy to foresee that this state of things will give sufficient employment to our courts in that quarter; and that, although Pensacola has been occupied by the military authority, nothing short of an act of Congress can reconcile the existing incongruities in the administration of law in that territory.

With respect to the occupation of that port, we are yet without any other information than that afforded by the two General Orders of the General commanding the Southern Division, already published. The despatches received the other day by express, and which were reported to contain an ample justification of Gen. Jackson's conduct, the public have not yet seen. It is presumed they will be made public when the Executive shall have acted on them.

VIROGINIA PEARLS.
It is a remarkable fact in the natural history of Virginia, that the pearl has been frequently found, particularly on the banks of the Potomac and York rivers. A writer in the transactions of the Royal Society of London, we think for the year 1700 or 1701, on the subject of Pearls; states that the Indians of Virginia used Pearls for ornaments stuck in their hair.—When we reflect, that the Banks of the principal large rivers in Virginia are composed of oyster shells, it is probable that the pearl oyster although extinct on our coast was formerly abundant. Morier in his account of Persia giving a description of the Pearl-Fish, says, that there is no difference between the common oyster and the Pearl oyster.—That the large or principal Pearl is nearly in the center of the shell and in the middle of the fish; but that round the lips of the oyster are arranged small pearls which are called sweat pearls. As the experiment need not be attended with much trouble, we think it might be interesting to examine into those banks which abound most with the shells of the oyster for the discovery of pearls.

The mode of fishing for pearls in Persia is somewhat amusing. There are two ways of carrying on the pearl fishery; the first, by which the adventurer charts a boat by the month, or by the season; in this boat he sends his agent to superintend the whole, with a crew of about fifteen men, and including generally five or six divers. The divers commence their work at sunrise and finish at sunset. The oysters that have been brought up, are successively confined to the superintendence; and when the business of the day is done, they are opened on a piece of white linen; the agent of course keeping a very active inspection over every shell.

The man who on opening an oyster, finds a valuable pearl, immediately puts it in his mouth, by which they fancy that it gains a finer water; and, at the end of the fishery, he is entitled to a present.

The divers are said seldom to live to a great age. Their bodies break out in sores, and their eyes become very weak and blood-shot. They can remain under water five minutes—and their divers succeed one another very rapidly, as by delving the state of their bodies would soon prevent the renewal of the exertion. They oil the surface of their ears, and put a hair ointment on their nose. In general life they are restricted to a certain regimen; and to food composed of dates and other little ingredients.

They can dive from ten to fifteen fathoms, and sometimes even more—and their prices increase according to the depth. The largest pearls are generally found in the deepest water. (Peterburgh Intell.)

Last week, 25 some children were at play in the Park, at the back of Standard-hill, Nottingham, where had been one of the old entrenchments for the defence of the Castle. they discovered a small hole in the face of the rock, and on removing the soil they enlarged the opening, so as to admit of a person's creeping into it, when it proved to be a room of about 20 feet square, hewn out of the solid rock, surrounded by benches, and supported in the centre by a nearly wrought column of the same material. Upon the sides are many rude drawings and numerous initials of names, a cross, a crescent fiche, and other devices, with the dates of 1570, 1637, 1638, 1640, &c. the latter of which appeared to be the most recent, and the whole apparently made with the points of soldiers' weapons, the place having evidently been a guard-room for the King's troops, occupying the out works of the Castle, till the unfortunate Charles erected his standard, which was done very near the spot. The reason why this discovery had not been made sooner may seem extraordinary, as most of the entrenchments have till of late been kept open; but here, on the Parliament troops taking possession, was a busy crowd work thrown up for the defence of the great tower, commonly called King Richard's Tower, which completely buried it; and so it might have remained for ages, had not the tenants of the Duke of Newcastle removed this mass of soil, to raise the gardens which occupy the site of the Old Fish Pond. There does not appear to have been any thing found in the excavation worthy remark, except two or three pieces of coin.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 10th 3d inst. Negro JEM, about 5 feet 5 inches high, 25 or 26 years of age, stout and well made, except that he is perhaps a little knockkneed; his complexion dark, has a large scar on the upper lip, occasionally, it is said, by his falling, when a child, on some edged tool; has a down look when spoken to; and is apt to be short and insolent in answering. The clothes he took with him are not recollected, except a red flannel shirt, a pair of Russia duck sailor's trousers, and a coarse wool hat with broad brim, nearly half worn. Having gone off without any provocation, it is probable his intention is to steer his course towards Baltimore or Pennsylvania, and pass for a free man. He has hauled the seine the two last seasons in Potomac, where he may have gone, or perhaps to Alexandria, where he is also a little acquainted. If taken 20 miles from home, or out of the county, I will give 20 dollars for securing him in any goal, or if taken 30 miles from home, or out of the state, I will give the above reward of fifty dollars.

Aged, infirm, and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a tailor. Vague rumour has recently pronounced him dead. Aletta communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwiler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an affected woman.

Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.

Valuable Land for Sale.
I WILL sell the farm on which I reside, known by the name of Indian Town, and containing about one thousand acres. It is situated in Charles Co. Md. on Nanjemoy Creek near its mouth, about seven miles from Port Tobacco, and forty from Washington City. Few farms combine greater advantages than this; added to a fertility of soil equal to any in the country, it binds on the creek nearly two miles, which affords great facility in getting its productions to market, and precludes the necessity of much fencing; the creek affords in their seasons, fish and wild fowl in abundance. The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of Tobacco, Wheat and Indian Corn, and the plaster has been found from experience to act on it admirably. There are now about 100 acres in clover, some of which is well set. The improvements are a new two story dwelling house 16 by 40 feet, kitchen, barn, stables, carriage house, with every other necessary out house, the whole in good repair. There is also a wind-mill in good order, the toll of which affords meal enough for the support of the farm. Also, one other tract containing 115 acres in the forest, about three miles distant, entirely in the wood. There is a well of excellent water in the yard, and several springs on different parts of the farm. The premises may be viewed, and the terms known by application to the subscriber. Should the above farm be sold, on the 1st of Sept. next, I will lease it for a term of years.
THEOPHILUS HARGRAVE.
Indian Town, June 29

For Sale,
A valuable Farm in Jefferson county, Virginia.
BY virtue of a decree of the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district in Virginia, in a suit wherein the executors of General George Washington were plaintiffs, and Gerard Alexander, Thomas L. Alexander, (by Ludwell Lee, Richard H. L. Washington, John A. Washington, Bushrod C. Washington and Mary Lee Washington, defendants)—will be exposed to sale to the highest bidder, for ready money, on the premises, on TUESDAY, the 15th day of September next, all that tract or parcel of Land, lying in Jefferson county, Virginia, on Bullskin, commonly called Rockhall, containing 540 acres, now in the occupation of John Sanders.
The above tract of land lies a. about 16 miles from Winchester, and about 6 miles from Charles-town, and on the main road leading from Winchester to Baltimore, city of Washington and Alexandria. It is well adapted to plaster and clover, and is in quality little inferior, at all, to that of any farm in that rich valley. The improvements on it are a large two-story frame dwelling house, barn and other necessary out houses.—The water is limestone and of excellent quality.
Any person wishing to view the premises will be shown them upon application to John A. Washington or Bushrod C. Washington, living near the land.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.
IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.
THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.
All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition; so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.
Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.
The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.
CONDITIONS.
I. The work will be printed on a super-fine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.
II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.
III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $15—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.
Subscriptions will be received by

James Kennedy & Son,
RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES: Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years pastured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.
This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions; feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any occasion.
Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebrator or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.
Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.
Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.
A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.
Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.
The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.
Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.
It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.
The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.
They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
